DO NOT CENSURE WITHOUT KNOWING.

Do not censure without knowing. Of it knows a noble mind. Worthy of our love bestowing. Where we least expect to find. Many a heart in kindness beating. Making solitude its own. With its kindred spirits greeting. Lives unloved because unknown.

Should you feel inclined to censure. Faults you may in others view. Ask your own heart ere you venture. If it has not failings too. Do not you be lacking. In the same regard to others. For the same spirit speaks. In the same language to others.

HOW MANUFACTURING PAYS.

What One Cotton Factory Will Do.
(From the Augusta Constitutionalist.)
As an example of what can be done at home, we have only to point to the great cotton goods manufactory in our city. No institution of the kind in the country, perhaps, has prospered more than this since the war. With the exception of about two hundred shares, the capital stock of the company is owned entirely in Augusta, and its dividends, therefore, go into the pockets of our citizens. The factory employs five hundred hands, who earn, on an average, twenty-five dollars per month, besides getting their house rent free. In the last year, beginning July 1, 1865, and ending July 1, 1874, the factory has paid out one million seven hundred and thirty thousand three hundred and seventy-two dollars and seventy-two cents have been paid out by this corporation for labor alone. The surplus in that year, if not quite all, of this large sum has been spent in the city, thus putting more money in circulation, and adding to the material prosperity of Augusta. It is estimated that there are two non-workers dependent upon each laborer, so that the factory really supports about three hundred persons, and not a small portion of the population of the city. Effectively, the factory has added a total of over thirty thousand. These additional fifteen thousand spindles will, in that event, be put a part in one of the present buildings and a part in a new building which will be erected for the purpose.

When two-thirds cotton and one-third labor is required in the manufacture of goods, the South has the advantage, and this is the case with all the commoner cotton fabrics. The cotton is immediately at hand, without having the expense of heavy freight charges added to the original cost. The ratio of the finer goods, however, is the other way, requiring two-thirds labor and one-third cotton for the present, at any rate, cannot be put to compete with the North in that line. The cotton goods manufactured by the Augusta factory are in demand in New York, and we believe better than those of the same grade manufactured by the Northern factories. They are strong and durable, and in their line cannot be surpassed.

The following is a statement of the amount paid out by the company since its organization, beginning July 1, 1865, and ending July 1, 1874, for labor, taxes, incidental expenses, repairs and dividends: Labor, $1,070,722.72; taxes, $257,415.04; expenses, $153,850.00; repairs, $55,222.21; dividends, $710,000.00. The total amount of $2,057,209.97, when the nefarious law imposing the tax was in operation. The remainder company, which was paid them for their services. We don't want the names of such men to appear in our columns.—Brandenburg Republican.

PLANTING POTATOES.—Dr. Hexamer of New York, in a result of an experiment of planting the potato in seven different ways, found that the best results were given from one large potato, whole, in each hill; the next best from two large half potatoes, lengthwise; next the seed end of a large potato; next from a medium sized potato planted whole; the smallest from small half potatoes; the next from a whole potato, whole, large ones cut in half and the largest in four pieces, each lengthwise, all ways taking care to select his best and sandest potatoes for seed.

J. F. Warner of Ohio, in an experiment with Harrison's, found that large seed cut in halves the most successful potatoes. He says: "This experiment, in connection with one made last year, would induce me to cut good seedable-sized potatoes for seed in preference to planting them whole, and in years of scarcity to use small potatoes, with care not to plant them too closely together."

Professor Daniels of the Wisconsin Agricultural College, in an experiment found that cut seed gave more from the same weight of seed, except where small potatoes were used, than whole ones did. A whole potato produced the most vigorous plants; those cut, the least.

In the message to Parliament, a short time ago, Queen Victoria said: "It was understood on my part to be without the power of the arbitrators to consider indirect claims;" whereupon the press of Great Britain began furiously against America, with a view, it is thought, to withdraw popular sentiment from the growing Republican movement in England.

THE TRUE WIFE.
The following touching, simple, sorrowful memorial of a wife, was written by one of the great statesmen of England, Sir James Mackintosh, in a private letter to a friend: "She was a woman," he writes, "who, by her tender management of my work, gradually corrected the most pernicious of them. She became prudent from affection, and, though of the most generous nature, she was taught frugality and economy by her love for me. During the most critical period of life, she preserved order in my affairs, from the care of which she relieved me. She gently restrained my dissipation, and propped my weak and irresolute nature; she urged my indolence to all the exertions that have been useful and creditable to me; and she was perfectly faithful to me, to a man who was by nature headstrong and headstrong."

He who cannot find time to consult the Bible will one day find that he has time to be sick; he who has no time to pray must find time to die; he who can find no time to read, will find time to find time to sin; he who cannot find time for repentance will find an eternity in which to suffer himself.

With the prayer, "Lead me not into temptation," on your lips, choose for a right and good, though the choice may find you confronting a solid rock. God shall render the rock accessible, and cover it with brighter greenness, and make it more radiant with flowers.

Bad thoughts are worse enemies than lions and tigers, for we can keep out of the way of wild beasts, but thoughts will find their way everywhere. The eye that is full will hold no more; keep your hearts full of good thoughts, that no bad thoughts may enter.

When you see a man with a good deal of religion displayed in his shop window, you depend upon it he keeps a very small stock of it within.

STRANGE PROPHECY.

Naulvi Mohammed Salimuz-yaman the famous astronomer of Bamper, whose deductions have generally turned out right, has foretold that in the coming year a light resembling a shooting star, the light of which no mortal has yet seen, will be visible in the sky. It will dazzle the eyes of the people of particular places with lustre, and after remaining for twenty-four hours, will vanish. The direction in which it will make its appearance, will be the north pole, and accordingly the people of northern countries will feel it distinctly. Probably the natives of China and Persia will likewise have sight of it. The effect of this meteor will be that the extent of country over which the light will fall, will be visited by a famine during the year, and a large number of the people inhabiting it will be destroyed, while vegetation will also be scanty.

RAILROAD SIGNALS.
One whistle of the locomotive means "down brakes," two whistles "off brakes;" three whistles "stop." A continued succession of short whistles is the cattle alarm. The conductor's signal, given by a sweeping parting of the hands on a level with the eyes, means "go ahead." A downward motion of the hand, stop. A lantern raised and lowered vertically signals starting; swung at right angles or across the track, to stop; swung in a circle, to back. A red flag waved on the track is a signal of danger, hoisted at a station is a signal for stopping, stuck up by the roadside is a signal of danger on the track ahead, carried unfurled on an engine is a signal that another engine or train is on its way.

TOO MEAN TO LIVE.—We have heard recently of a number of instances where ministers have been sent for to get eight or ten miles in the country to celebrate the rites of matrimony, and when the ceremony was over they were not so much as thanked for their labor. Now, we wish to say to young men who contemplate committing matrimony: that in our opinion, no gentleman would ask a minister to marry him for nothing. If he is not able to pay the minister a fee of five, ten or twenty dollars, especially when he leaves his business and rides five or ten miles in the cold and wet, he is not able to take care of a wife, and ought not to have one. If he is not too penurious to do it, his wife ought to leave him, instantly, for he will be too stingy to give her enough to eat. Occasionally one of these poor fellows comes to us for a husband notice of his marriage, and thinks hard of us for not putting him and his wife free of charge. It is not the value of a bottle of wine that we appreciate, but the fact that the young husband thinks enough of his wife to want the world to know that he won her.

Ministers are requested not to send us wedding notices where the bridegroom has failed to pay them for their services. We don't want the names of such men to appear in our columns.—Brandenburg Republican.

PLANTING POTATOES.—Dr. Hexamer of New York, in a result of an experiment of planting the potato in seven different ways, found that the best results were given from one large potato, whole, in each hill; the next best from two large half potatoes, lengthwise; next the seed end of a large potato; next from a medium sized potato planted whole; the smallest from small half potatoes; the next from a whole potato, whole, large ones cut in half and the largest in four pieces, each lengthwise, all ways taking care to select his best and sandest potatoes for seed.

J. F. Warner of Ohio, in an experiment with Harrison's, found that large seed cut in halves the most successful potatoes. He says: "This experiment, in connection with one made last year, would induce me to cut good seedable-sized potatoes for seed in preference to planting them whole, and in years of scarcity to use small potatoes, with care not to plant them too closely together."

Professor Daniels of the Wisconsin Agricultural College, in an experiment found that cut seed gave more from the same weight of seed, except where small potatoes were used, than whole ones did. A whole potato produced the most vigorous plants; those cut, the
